

"The longing for peace"

This is the name of an outdoor exhibition throughout the Western and Lower Galilee.

At the end of a year after the Second Lebanon War, a comprehensive exhibition is presented throughout the Galilee. The exhibition came to express sympathy with the residents of the north who suffered a heavy blow and to express support for them.

About two hundred colorful works of art photographed on top of Samsonites are placed around

Galilee settlements. They express the solidarity of the entire people with the residents of the north of the country and support them.
